Dr. Randolph C. Robinson Recently Awarded AAOMS (American Association of Oral & Maxillofacial Surgeons) Humanitarian Award

Dr. Randolph C. Robinson of Park Meadows Cosmetic Surgery, recently selected to receive the AAOMS (American Association of Oral & Maxillofacial Surgeons) Humanitarian Award for Fellows and Members.

Littleton, CO, June 4, 2010 - Dr. Randolph C. Robinson has recently been selected to receive the AAOMS (American Association of Oral & Maxillofacial Surgeons) Humanitarian Award for Fellows and Members. The award was established in 1997 to recognize AAOMS fellows and members for their participation in community leadership and volunteer projects. Recently, the AAOMS Board of Trustees and the Awards Committee announced that this award be renamed and expanded to include efforts on a global basis in addition to local community efforts and two awards be provided annually. Dr. Randolph C. Robinson and Dr. Michael C. Matzkin have been selected to receive this prestigious award in 2010.

The presentation of this award is scheduled for Wednesday, September 29, 2010 in Chicago during the AAOMS 92nd Annual Meeting.

Dr. Robinson recently returned from his 22nd visit overseas with Face the Challenge (FTC), a non-profit humanitarian organization dedicated to providing surgeries for those less fortunate in other countries. FTC estimates that since 1993, the team has provided about 1,082 free facial surgeries over 29 visits to several countries including Costa Rica, Bolivia, Vietnam, and China. Dr. Robinson has also traveled to Ukraine, Moldova and Siberia in order to lecture on various procedures and techniques. For more information about Face the Challenge, please visit their website at <http://www.FaceTheChallenge.org>.
